CORE VALUES

Mission

Bill Wilson Center supports and strengthens the community by serving youth and families through counseling, housing, education, and advocacy.

Vision

We are working to prevent poverty in the next generation by connecting youth to education, employment, housing and positive relationships. We are working toward ending youth and family homelessness.

Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM)

Personnel in every profession can receive crisis intervention support in their work and in their personal lives from BWCC’s CISM team. Trauma, illness and grief can significantly impact individuals and groups in the aftermath of a dramatic event. Issues experienced include Post Traumatic Stress symptoms, the need for specialized trauma communication skills, and support with emotions arising from death notifications.

When there has been a death or critical incident in our schools, neighborhoods, businesses or community agencies - such as VTA - we are forever changed. The impact can be far reaching, for both individuals and agencies.

Many times, when a crisis occurs, we need to come together as a group who has survived and be with each other in a safe and non-judgmental place to understand that our varied stress responses are normal and to give and receive support.

Bill Wilson Center assists the community in building the “New Normal”.

The History of Bill Wilson Center

The origins of Bill Wilson Center go back to 1973 when a prominent Santa Clara citizen, Bill Wilson, Jr., worked with troubled youth in addition to owning Wilson’s Jewel Bakery and serving as a Santa Clara City Councilman (1963-1971), with a term as mayor in 1965.

Bill collaborated with faculty at Santa Clara University on a proposal for a counseling center which would combine counseling of students in the local secondary schools with a family therapy program. Wilson’s credibility with both the counseling professionals and Santa Clara political and business leaders was an important factor in creating this community-based service. Webster Center, as it was then called, opened its doors in the fall of 1973.

Bill Wilson continued to be involved as an active member of its Board of Directors. Later, he helped secure a building for our first runaway program and the building is still in use today. In May 1977, after a brief illness, Bill died at the age of forty-one.

The staff and the Board of Directors chose to change the name of Webster Center to Bill Wilson Center in memory of this very special person and one of the founders of Bill Wilson Center.
A Message from the CEO
COVID-19 defined our Fiscal Year 2021, as Bill Wilson Center remained open throughout the pandemic, never missing a day of providing service and care for the region’s most vulnerable people. Case managers made extra efforts to ensure clients were not isolated due to the pandemic. Our Drop-In Center added preventive measures to check homeless, street youth so that essential aid could continue to be given to people with nowhere else to turn.

Zoom counseling sessions became the new norm for our mental health practitioners, case managers and grief counselors. Through collaborations with San Jose Strong, city governments and the County we screened, processed and distributed hundreds of checks to keep families housed who had lost their jobs due to shelter-in-place rules and desperately needed help paying for rent to keep a roof over their heads.

We expanded out services to support homeless college students, opening an office on the San Jose State University campus to address the expanding number of students with no place to call home.

As a community, we will get through these challenging times together thanks to our donors who stepped up and supported our programs in the face of COVID-19. This vital collection of donations helped keep our funding going so we could help the growing list of people in need in our county.

I am proud of my staff, who adapted their services to safely continue providing safe havens for our clients. We never stopped housing or sheltering our homeless populations - we never stopped counseling those in need - and we expanded our grief counseling to help those impacted by the VTA shooting - and we will always be on the frontlines of ending youth and family homelessness.

OUTCOMES

89% of the 193 youth served at BWC’s Safety Net Shelter were reunited with family or exited to a stable placement.

1,485 young adults and their children received housing services from BWC, thereby avoiding homelessness.

24,591 counseling sessions were provided by BWC to individuals and families, ensuring those in need learned the skills needed to cope with past and present crises.

4,723 people were served by Bill Wilson Center during the past fiscal year.

Janet Childs Retires after 45 Years at BWC’s Centre for Living with Dying

As a founding member of the Centre for Living with Dying, Janet Childs has worked with thousands of individuals, groups and first responders. Through Janet’s leadership, the Centre became one of the most comprehensive bereavement counseling services in the country. Janet oversaw the Centre’s educational programs and coordinated the Bay Area CISM Team.

For 20 years, she offered POST Certified Training for public safety personnel and for 30 years provided Certified Training for social workers, nurses and therapists.

Combining her love of music with her personal and professional experience with loss; she created a safe and healing environment to gently examine these difficult life issues. When it came to healing the community as they processed grief and loss, Janet Childs worked across all boundaries to help people heal. Thank you Janet!

294 students and their family members, on the verge of homelessness, received Family Advocacy Services enabling them to improve their housing stability with 91% of the students improving their grade point averages.

16,344 meals were served at BWC’s Drop-In Center in downtown San Jose for homeless youth.

3,341 individuals and first responders were reached by BWC’s Critical Intensive Stress Management (CISM) team.

950+ beds were made available on any given night by Bill Wilson Center.

Emergency Rental Assist

BWC serves a variety of clients in its 14 housing programs at 21 sites ranging from permanent to short-term housing. We house more than 950 people on any given night. Due to the pandemic, BWC provided emergency housing funds totalling $1,082,968 to families and young adults facing homelessness.

Homeless Youth Risk and Resiliency Survey

Nearly 60% of BWC’s clients surveyed had lost their jobs due to the pandemic. In addition, 20% of respondents had their living situation change due to COVID-19. Access to food continued to be difficult for 1-in-5 of the homeless youth seen by Bill Wilson Center during the pandemic.
