CORE VALUES

Guiding Principles
As the agency works to help youth build their skills and resiliency, Bill Wilson Center has defined fundamental principles that guide its work. At the core of all programs are eight guiding principles:

No Fail
Everyone can be successful. We keep trying.

Least Restrictive Environment
We help people solve problems at the family and the community level; public institutions are the last resort.

Diversity
We provide services that meet the cultural and linguistic needs of our whole community. We value our unique ethnic diversity as well as the LGBTQ community and non-able body community. Our clients, staff, and volunteers reflect our community.

Strength-Based
We look for the positive in each person and build on those assets.

Youth Development and Leadership
We support youth. We help build leadership skills by involving youth in programs and planning for their future; many services are youth-led.

Advocacy
We work on improving systems that do not meet the needs of youth and families.

Collaboration
We work with others to provide a continuum of services; we focus on all the needs of the individual, including health, housing and well-being.

Families Matter
We help keep families together and build reconnections to families. We recognize that “families” come in all shapes and sizes.

Mission
Bill Wilson Center supports and strengthens the community by serving youth and families through counseling, housing, education, and advocacy.

Vision
We are working to prevent poverty in the next generation by connecting youth to education, employment, housing and positive relationships. We are working toward ending youth and family homelessness.

Bill Wilson Center
A 501(c)(3) community-based agency located in Santa Clara, the agency was launched in 1973 with two programs in Santa Clara: the Family and Individual Counseling Center; and School Outreach Counseling. BWC now has more than 40 years of experience developing, implementing, and delivering services to the community. BWC is the only agency in the county focused on providing specific programs and services that address the needs of homeless, systems (foster and juvenile justice), and transition-age youth, all of which are underserved populations. Our geographic range runs throughout Santa Clara County.
A Message from the CEO

Five years ago we launched our Family Advocacy Services (FAS) program with one part-time staff member working in two high schools. We now have 19 employees in our FAS and Rapid Rehousing programs serving K-12 and college students along with young families throughout the county.

According to a report issued by the California State University system, nearly 11% of students in the 23-campus system are either homeless or have experienced some form of homelessness during their college careers. Our own San Jose State tops the list at 13.2% percent, which works out to more than 4,300 students.

BWC’s own Count Me - Hidden in Plain Sight Documenting Homeless Youth Populations report found that 17% of high school students from every neighborhood in Santa Clara County indicated that they had been unhoused or knew of friends who were.

That’s a population of students and families exceeding the population of Los Gatos!

We are working with schools because this is where young people are located. We are forming bridges with schools to create safe places for homeless youth to come forth and get connected to help. Last year more than 200 families comprised of more than 500 individuals received assistance through our FAS program. This enabled 190 students to improve attendance and increase their academic performance — giving them a better chance of continuing their education after graduation. In addition to partnering with San Jose Unified School District, soon we will be working side-by-side with Santa Clara Unified School District on identifying and assisting homeless students and families within the district’s area.

By providing students and young families with short term assistance we are finding ways to stabilize their housing and stave off homelessness. These families and students are just looking for a place to live.

Through the hard work of BWC's talented staff and our partner agencies, we are providing resources so youth can remain in school, improve their grades, and grow into adults knowing they will have a place to call home.

Bill Wilson Center Houses Hundreds of Previously Homeless Youth and Young Families Every Night

Bill Wilson Center can house nearly 500 people on any given night through our 11 housing programs and 18 sites. Housing options range from short-term to permanent locations. We implement a Housing First principle, which offers homeless youth and young families permanent housing with few to no preconditions.
Outcomes & Impact

4,101 people participated in our counseling, housing, education, foster care, mental health, shelter and basic needs programs. Bill Wilson Center's Crisis Lines and Street Outreach programs connected with more than 30,500 people.

- 86% of youth at BWC's Crisis Residential Center were reunited with family or exited to a stable placement.

- 660 young adults and their children received housing services from BWC, thereby avoiding homelessness. 58% of the youth gained or maintained employment and 48% were enrolled in school to further their education and gain the skills needed to become a self-sufficient adult.

- 556 students and their family members, on the verge of homelessness, received services enabling them to improve their housing stability through our Family Advocacy Services program, resulting in 92% of the students improving their school attendance and re-positioning themselves to graduate.

- 4,889 meals were served at BWC’s Drop-In Center in downtown San Jose. A hot meal goes a long way to ensure street youth have the energy to make it through the day.
